

COMPILER'S NOTES

The Town of Freetown was incorporated in July, 1683 from territory formerly known as the Freeman's Purchase. It was divided into 26 lots. Lot #22 became the early business area. On February 26, 1803, the western end was separated to form Fall River (Lots 1-14) with the line drawn through the center of lot #14.

On February 5, 1747, a new boundary line was determined between the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. From its settlement, the present town of Tiverton, RI was in Massachusetts and a part of the Pocasset Purchase, First Division, so-called. At this point in time, its western portion became Tiverton, Rhode Island, while the eastern area was annexed to Freetown, Massachusetts, and given the title of East Freetown. The latter, a part of the Pocasset Purchase known as the Second Division, was sometimes referred to as the "Gore," or "Outlet." Much of this land had little settlement, until it was joined to Freetown. It was divided into 36-acre lots, the Mile-Square, Greatlots-Second Division, Bolton Cedar Swamp lots, Copicut lots, and the 35-Acre lots.

These records have been compiled over a period of fifteen years. My genealogical pursuits, then in early stages, found only bits and pieces of Freetown vital records in print. Having ancestors here from its beginnings, I was moved by a desire to allow genealogists, country-wide, an opportunity to have access to all its records. I wanted a Freetown book standing on the bookshelves with information comparable to those of so many towns published in the early twentieth century.

Vital records of 1683-1685 are missing. Intentions of marriage from April 4, 1834 to March 21, 1835 and from January 28, 1872 to December, 1873 have not been located.

Listings of births and deaths of those who resided in East Freetown are significantly missing from records before 1850. Assonet, always having been the center of Freetown's town government, was just too distant for registration. The two settlements, settlements, then at opposite ends of town, were separated by many miles of woodland. In 1841, Massachusetts sachusetts became the first state to enact legislation requiring registration of births and deaths, as well as intentions and marriages. By 1850, vital records began to furnish additional data. All is given here as an aid in your research.

Intentions have been included, if the marriage was not found among Freetown records. In those of the early period, significance was placed upon the residence given, either "of Freetown," or "resident of Freetown." The first denotes "native of," and the latter, "temporary residence." Omission of residence in these printed records indicates the person was of Freetown.

Reference to Bedford as one's residence was the term occasionally used for New Bedford, in its early settlement. Between June 18, 1804 and February 12, 1834, Fall River was known as Troy. Between June 9, 1814 and June 10, 1828, a portion of Dighton was known as Wellington.

Among the General Laws of 1857, Section 4, Chapter 84, requested Town Clerks of the Commonwealth to forward records of all non-resident marriages performed in their town, to the town or towns in which the party or parties resided. Thus, included among these records are some from neighboring towns, and are so marked.

For descendants interested in the probable geographical location of their ancestors, an asterisk is placed before those who performed marriages in the east end of town (see the list of abbreviations). Names of the clergy, etc. are omitted from these records after the opening of the railroads around 1840, in both ends of town, since the local marriage pattern was then altered.

In 1983, the Freetown Historical Society received a notebook from Judith J. Gurney, of Rochester, in which marriages performed by Elder John Lawrence, of East Freetown, had been recorded. Some had been entered into the town records, some had not. All are included here with a notation as to where the original is located.

Palo Alto Peirce, Town Clerk from 1879-1896, recopied original records (with much miscopying) and they are found in Book 16. Among the deaths, he added dates found elsewhere. Those printed here are clearly identified.

Old records of the Chace family, now (1987) in possession of Harriet C. Parker, offered information not in the Town Hall. Such is included here for your convenience.

As a genealogist, if you have made use of the records already in print and now find a glaring difference with dates shown here, it would be wise to request the Town Clerk to check original records.

Happy Hunting - Helen G. Thomas
